Equalize the Burden

Premier Garson of Manitoba says the cost of keeping the railways going should be borne equitably by freight shippers all over Canada.
On paper that looks like a self-evident proposition, which nobody would object to, or could try to get around without concealing, trying to sponge on other people. But this has not been the rule on which freight shippers have been imposed with any close attention to strict impartiality.

"Equitably" the key word in the Premier's declaration. Charges have been imposed on all kinds of freight, and have produced the bulk of railway revenue. But they have not been levied without side-considerations, which upset the balance and took too heavy a toll from Manitoba shippers for the benefit of others. That is what Mr. Garson objects to.

There has been discrimination between one area and another. Western people know that to their cost. There is a variation in rates between one commodity and another which has been hard to explain. The time when one industry was being favored at the expense of others. There have been spreads between coal rates and cattle rates, and between truck traffic and revenue from the railways and gave it to the trucks.

All such inequalities are due through investigation, now that the freight rate question has been raised by a proposal for an increase of "the board" rates. The time when where rates have not been "equitable," and to make them so. To this proposition no person can properly object.

But if readjustment is made along these lines it will have to be made after full investigation, and backed by the time when the railway managements could not do the overhauling "off their own bat." If they tried they would be rebuffed by everyone whose personal or corporate interests suffered.

In any case there is little enough hope that a thoroughly "equitable" rate schedule can be established without loss profits from industries and localities which are doomed to lose long of the "board" rates. This proposition is counted on. It will have to be frustrated if the national carriers are to be put on a sound basis and the cost of maintaining them properly distributed.

District Court Judges

Within the next few weeks it will be the responsibility of the federal Government to name a new district court judge to fill the vacancy in the district of Northern Alberta created by the elevation of Mr. Justice Boyd to the supreme court bench.

The public is entitled to expect that quite as much care will be exercised in making this appointment to the district court as is usually employed in making an appointment to the supreme court.

The district court judge is quite as essential a judicial officer as the supreme court judge. Some respect his functions touch the general public more closely than those of superior tribunals.

Although his jurisdiction only extends to cases involving sums of from $1 to $500, he deals with a great variety of cases, and the course of a year than any other court and, even in the smallest cases, the decisions are frequently of more consequence than in the larger ones.

In other words, litigants of the poorer classes are entitled to just as much judicial service as litigants of the wealthy classes.

It is highly important, then, that the duties of the district court be performed by men capable of administering the law fairly, correctly and with temperance, knowledge and experience.

It is important that the district court be strengthened by competent judges. These things should be considered carefully by the Government before an appointment is made.

The American Ambassador

Something of a diplomatic tempest has arisen in Ottawa where the ambassador of the United States appears to have been given facilities by nailing up a sign on his place of business informing the world that therein functions the "American Embassy."

Strong objections are taken to the phrase because, as it is argued, the country represented by that sign does not comprise all of the American continent, but only a part of it. Canada, the United States and the South American countries, it is pointed out, are equally justified in designating their representatives abroad as "American."

Fuel was added to the flame of criticism in Ottawa when it was discovered that the Hon. C. Ross, Minister of the Interior, was finding his alleged error to a doorplate. His personal cards also emblazon the legend "The American Ambassador."

Thus when the Canadian state department invites the "Ambassador of the United States" to the annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce or Rideau Hall, it receives a reply that the "American Ambassador" would be delighted to attend.

One cannot think, for the moment, what actual difference it all makes. That gives significance to the affair.

It is a reassuring sign of the world's slow return to normalcy that the federal government is indulging in polite squabbles over things that have no practical importance.

A Tax Is a Load

A three cent tax is a three cent tax, whatever government collects the money. Taxation burdens producing costs, therefore tends to curb production.

These facts are the basis of advance protests which farmers' organizations are raising against the move to mark down the federal tax rate. They point out that the Dominion was asked to cancel its three-cent-per-gallon levy in order to get down farm production costs, which would result if provincial authorities hoist their tollage tax and gather in the revenue which at present is going to the federal treasury.

will not be affected. Unless hard pressed for income it would seem likely other western provinces will take the same course. This is a good time to cut down the cost of producing farm products.

That point is emphasized by news from Washington. Officials in the department of agriculture there forecast a drop in product prices after the holidays, though they do not expect the benefit will filter through to consumers until spring. If they are right, the cutting of production costs on the farm right now is particularly sound policy, alike for the farmers and the governing authorities.

The public are indebted to the farm organizations for calling attention to the depressing effect of taxation upon production, for the effect is the same in other branches of industry as in farming.

This fact was naturally lost sight of in the war years. It is time now to bring it again into view, and call it to the attention of members of parliament as well as members of the legislature.

Taxation is a load imposed upon the production—and distribution—of wealth. Federal and provincial budget-making should be carried on with that highly important fact clearly in mind.

Scaling Down In Advance

If the Moscow radio told the whole story there must have been a lot of scaling down among the Russian troops garrisoning eastern Germany. The broadcaster explained that the withdrawal of solid divisions from the front was only a routine procedure, older-age men being taken home to be demobilized.

He did not say that younger men were being sent or would be sent to replace these home-going seniors. That omission seems significant. It suggests that the Russian army is being scaled down of the occupation forces and a large scale cutting down of the Russian army.

There is no doubt the prediction that Ottawa will, in the near future, authorize a boost in rental ceilings of 10 to 15 per cent will be greeted with a burst of hurrahs from some quarters. But it is equally certain that it will be greeted with a burst of hurrahs from the lower income brackets, including a majority of our married men and women.

ABOUT THE POLES

BY ELMORE PHILPOT

ish ex-soldier immigrants had been carefully hand-picked—that they were the very cream of the Polish army in the west. Yet a Vancouver Sun despatch, dated Ottawa, December 16, says of these:

Government circles are perturbed by the high incidence of tuberculosis and venereal diseases. Negotiations are proceeding to make some special hospital beds available. Medical examinations were carried out in Italy but the lack of proper facilities, the Poles were rather X-rayed nor given blood tests.

Whoever is responsible for what has been said with by Parliament.

There is a grave danger that this Polish immigration scheme may result in flooding Canada with a large number of Polish who fought in our side in the war—but with Poles who fought for Hitler.

The London Evening Standard showed, as early as June 3, 1946, that less than 30,000 of the 180,000 members of the Polish Resettlement Corps fought in the German Wehrmacht during the war.

"Here is the strange story that has been kept from the British public. During the campaign in Italy and Western Europe, Polish recruiting teams were behind the lines, and some of them were the maximum number of potential Polish soldiers from German prisoners, captured in the field forces. After cursory screening they were induced to join the Allied army. Thousands of others were permitted to change uniforms when the war was over."

THE BRITISH WAR office has never denied this was done. It has merely denied that any considerable percentage "will be allowed to settle in Britain."

There is no reason why Canada should admit a single Polish ex-soldier—whether such fought for Hitler or not—at least until every British ex-soldier has had a chance to say whether he would like to migrate with his family to Canada.

I am reliably informed that at least 40,000 British families have intimated that they would like to move to Canada, or other similar countries.

Surely common sense would suggest that we admit our own sons and kin before we admit members of an army in which one member out of every five fought for Hitler.

There's a Song

In The Air

There's a song in the air!
There's a mother's deep prayer,
And a baby's low cry,
And the stars rain its fire while
the beautiful sing,
And the manager of Bethlehem
cries a King!

There's a tumult of joy
O'er the sweetest birth,
For the Virgin's sweet boy
Is the Lord of the earth.
Aye! The star rains its fire while the beautiful sing,
And the manager of Bethlehem
cries a King!

In the light of that star
Lies the angel's light,
And that song from afar
Has crept over the world,
Every heart is aflame and the beautiful sing,
In the homes of the nations that Jesus is King!

We rejoice in the light,
And we echo the song
That comes down through the night
From the heavens above,

Young Movie Stars Also Have Financial Troubles

By Virginia MacPherson

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23 (BUP) — Scrapping up that green stuff for Christmas shopping is no cinch, according to movie stars Luana Patten and Bobby Driscoll. Things are plenty tough this year. Especially when you have to hock your funny books to play Santa Claus.

Because, you see, these movie stars are a little young yet to sign checks, Miss Patten is all of 8, Mr. Driscoll is 9. They even earn pretty elegant salaries for sprouts that age.

THEY JUST completed "Song of the South" for Walt Disney. They're the only "live" stars he has on his payroll. And the cartoon reels don't pay off in stuffed animals, either.

Trouble is, they don't ever get to see the cash they earn. And their mothers don't believe in extravagant allowances. (Not even bonuses for Christmas.) That's the real trouble, they're not allowed to go out and buy things they want to get out and hustle for their spending money.

So far, Luana and Bobby report, they've bumped into two problems: 1—Their mothers are hard schedule in those allowances and 2—The current economic situation.

"IT'S THIS inflation," Bobby proclaimed in authoritative tones. "You go to the store to buy a pie and you find, say a nice, berry one for 50 cents. Well, by the time you run home to see if that's the kind your mother wants and get back again, it's gone up to $1.50. It's the same way with Christmas presents."

Indeed, he added, his mother owes him two bucks in back allowances.

"I get it a week," he explained, "I saved up $2 and gave it to my mother to keep. And you know what?"

"I saved up $2 and gave it to my mother to keep. And you know what?"

"I saved up $2 and gave it to my mother to keep. And you know what?"

Needed Medical Care

Kindness to Stranger Pays Big Dividends

CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (BUP) — Thirty-five years ago, on a warm fall day in 1911, a penniless stranger made his way to Mercy Hospital and asked to see the Mother Superior.

"Sister, I am sick," he said. "I need medical care that requires weeks or months. I have no money. I am not even a Catholic."

THE SISTERS OF MERCY took in the stranger, just as they had taken many before him. They received the best care the hospital could give and several weeks later went on his way in good health.

The sisters marked it down as a check on their charity.

They had forgotten all about the incident when, nearly a year later, a check for $30,000 arrived from Paris, France. The check was signed by Father Thompson, a native New Yorker living in Paris with his wife.

That day, wrote that the man the sisters had treated was his friend.

He asked that he never had heard of the Sisters of Mercy and was not a Catholic, but that he wanted them to use the money for their other in need.

THIRTYFIVE years later received each year a check for $30,000. In 1946, the check continued to arrive, signed by his widow, the former Countess De Beau Reu.

Silent Night

In the deep silence of midnight, Christ was born into the world. He came, like the dawn, and unsung, save for a brief song of angels that only shepherds heard.

Here is reflection for a ardent world that for one time remembers the hushed awe of the three kings on the way, who knelt before the swaddled Babe and laid offerings at His feet.

Here is consolation for men grown frightened with the noise and clamor of the enemy.

Here is hope for the despairing who forget that, although sin and strife prevent the headlines, the word of peace goes on with the quietness of Bethlehem itself.

Only the men of faith—the followers of the Prince of Peace—can truly perceive the consolation and promise of Christmas.

They know how solitaire and cruelly the load and selfish view for power and position in the world. They know that in many places Christ is despised, that even among those who believe in Him there is cowardice, indifference, or neglect.

But they know also that the spirit of Christ survives serene and indomitable. Christmas is still, as it always will be, a day of goodness and hope. For at this time, one remembers how courageous are the servants of peace, how quietly and confidently they strive to enrich and perpetuate the kingdom of Christ on earth.

Who are these servants of peace, these loyal worshippers who pause in grateful adoration before the newborn Lord at Bethlehem?

They are the preachers of good-will everywhere, the fathers of families, the students seeking just solutions for social problems, the leaders faithful to their standards. They are the charitable, the patient, they are the people who pray; they are the unnumbered millions who forever turn to Christ as the Light of the World.

A COMMUNITY AFFAIR. CONVENT, England (C)—When Jean Whitman, 15, a "crazy" daughter sang at a local concert, 500 boys and girls decided to sing in a week each for her holiday lesson and to "put her name in lights."

SKIING PARTY ENDS IN TRAGEDY WHEN TRUCK DIVES INTO COLORADO LAKE

COL. DEVINE, 'DREAMBOAT' SKIPPER, WEDS WAC ASSISTANT IN NEW YORK

TRAGIC END—Standing on the truck which was bearing 18 holiday skiers, rescuers probe the icy waters of Clear Creek, near Idaho Springs, Colo., after the truck plunged off a mountain road, falling 50 feet. One man was killed and 12 injured.

GOING UP—When Ronald Johnson, 23, University of Michigan student, was threatened with eviction from his apartment because the dog continually tramped through the entrance, Johnson devised this novel elevator service for the pooch.

FOUR OF A KIND—Quadruplet calves try out their legs at the Rhynders Farm, Clinton Hollow, N.Y., where their birth to a five-year-old Holstein cow makes them a rarity in cattle breeding history. Reuben Rhynders and his sister, Mrs. Eva Bowe, induce calves to pose for their first picture.

'DREAMBOAT' SKIPPER WEDS—Col. C. S. Irvine, commander of the "Faucus Dreamboat," is congratulated by Supreme Court Justice James B. McNally, right, after the flyer's marriage to his WAC assistant Capt. Ruth Saltzman.

OH! SANTA—Screen star Jeff Donnell was selected as "the gift we'd most like to find on Christmas morn" by the Gag-Writers Protective Association. What Jeff is actually doing is wishing all her fans a "Merry Xmas."

SMILES THROUGH HER TROUBLES—Mrs. Bonnie Trent, 19, smiles through her pain with her husband standing at bedside after she was taken into Denver from an isolated mountain lodge. Trent previously, acting on telephoned instruction from doctor, had delivered the young woman of a still-born baby.

FAIS—Bill Chambers, UCLA's right tackle, takes time out from football to play with his Australian sheep dog, Mike. Chambers adopted Mike on Okinawa when the dog's first master was killed in combat.

ALL SET—Not long ago it was "no place to live" for the Motlows, students at the University of California. Now they have two homes—one in a housing project apartment and one in a 28-foot sail boat. They prefer the latter where they here enjoy their morning coffee.

MATERIAL WITNESS—This horse was brought to court in the trial of Albert Berney Price who was charged with dragging the animal behind his truck in Portland, Oregon. At left, wearing glasses, Price watches jurors inspect the horse. Witness Kenneth Hoar, back to camera, brought horse to court.

GOOD WITH THE BRUSH—George Ayer, junior at Merchandise Mart, Chicago, pauses at his regular work to view some of the 300 paintings he completed in his spare time. Many of them have been sold. Ayer's son, 10, does illustrations.

VEGETARIAN—Seventeen-year-old Jim Spell, Columbia, Miss., really likes his vegetables, at least enough to win title of champion junior grower for 1946 and a $500 A & P Food Stores scholarship. Jim smiles after receiving awards in Boston.

'ISN'T DADDY FUNNY' could be the thoughts of the Bjorling children with their mother, left, as they watch their father make faces following their arrival in New York to spend Christmas. The parents had previously come to the U. S. Jussi Bjorling is a Metropolitan Opera star.

Chamber of Commerce Reports Busy Year in Many Fields

Culminating in a civic betterment campaign aimed at "giving Edmonton the proper setting for many fine institutions," the year of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, one of the most intensive ever started by the chamber, has the general objective of developing greater civic pride among citizens, and an immediate objective of obtaining better roads, sidewalks, boulevards and parks in Edmonton.

In his review of the chamber's 57th year of operation C. D. Jacob, president, reported that membership had risen to more than 900 as Edmonton's rapidly mounting population called for increased activities from all working committees.

In October, Charles E. Garnett succeeded Mr. Jacob in the president's position. Another important change in personnel came with the resignation of Reg. T. Rose, executive secretary for four years, who moved to the Vancouver Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Rose was succeeded by T. A. Lawrence, former vice marshal in the R.C.A.P., who is expected to take over his duties shortly.

Strategic Position
Edmonton's strategic position on global air routes was emphasized by the work of the aviation committee under the chairmanship of E. L. Lovensh and Charles Becker. Close contact has been maintained with two companies planning extension from the United States through Edmonton, they are Western Air Lines and Northwest Airlines.

Agricultural Section
The chamber under R. C. Marler turned in a progressive year with the sponsoring of the third annual agricultural show, held in conjunction with the provincial department of agriculture. This popular course, held in February, drew more than 500 district farmers to a program of up-to-the-minute farm topics.

Announced again for February, 1947, the course will be extended to include discussions on farm administration and business methods. The section also made representations dealing with animal diseases, laboratory facilities, gasoline price increases, agricultural labor and rural education.

Road Maintenance
The Alberta highway committee, dealing with another subject close to the hearts of Edmontonians, has carried on an unremitting campaign for the continued maintenance of the highway with a direct all-weather link between Edmonton and Dawson Creek. Representations to the federal government were spearheaded by a visit of James A. Christensen, committee chairman, to Ottawa in company with Hon. W. A. Poirer, minister of public works, Mayor H. D. Ainlay, and Wing Cmdr. L. H. Philmer, special commissioner for northwest defence projects.

Working closely with the Alaska highway committee were the Jasper Park development committee and the tourist committee. The urgent need of proper Jasper Park development was placed before Ottawa.

Close liaison between Alberta and British Columbia was sponsored by the chamber.

Chief Didn't Call!

Own Fire Brigade

PORT LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—When Fire Chief John R. Simpson discovered his bedroom in flames late Thursday he called the fire department—not the one under his own command but the Langley fire-fighters, stationed seven miles away.

Chief Simpson explained Friday that the Port Langley fire wagon would probably need towing the one block to his home—"It is a job to start the engine."

He said the Port Langley brigade had been trying for more than a year to secure another truck from the War Assets Corporation.

Incidentally, the chief caused his own fire—with a bucket.

Joined by the chamber with a meeting here in April at which 52 delegates from Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria, Prince George and Grande Prairie gathered to study needs of the two provinces.

Sales Bureau Active

One bureau of the chamber that showed healthy activity throughout the year was the 50-member advertising and sales bureau. Familiarization tours of Edmonton industries have proved a popular 1948 feature and visits were made to several industrial plants.

Provincial and federal legislation was under the watchful eye of the chamber's legislative committee all year; great attention was shown to the proposed increase in railway freight rates and the committee, headed by B. Bruce Smith and Ronald Marland, are preparing a brief to protest any basic rate increase.

The Edmonton Industrial Development board has not relaxed its efforts to attract new industries to Edmonton. In co-operation with civic commissioners it has succeeded in lining up several important industries that have stated their intention to open up here when present crowded conditions are relieved.

Edmonton's traffic conditions, aggravated by increased population, have been investigated by the chamber and suggestions forwarded to the city and other interested bodies. Specific aims of the traffic committee have been to relieve congestion in crowded traffic areas, promote safety driving and study improvements in city transportation lines.

These committees form only a section of the organization whose work extends to almost every avenue of Edmonton life and business. Adult education, through radio broadcasts and address by business leaders, was a prominent department. Leaders in world affairs visited Edmonton under Chamber auspices. These visitors included George S. Mooney, European UNRRA head; J. R. Macdonell, Canadian M.P.; Hon. Stuart Garson, premier of Manitoba; C. Gordon Cockburn, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce; Federal Resources Minister, J. A. Glen, and Hon. C. E. Carleton, British Columbia minister of mines and others.

and discussed at regular meetings of the general chamber and the executive council. Help was extended to boards of trade at many Alberta centres and chamber speakers visited many meetings, giving executive advice.

A multitude of other business passed through downtown offices of the chamber during the year. Hundreds of inquiries from all parts of Canada, the United States and overseas countries were answered by the business staff of Mrs. Laura Cooper, Miss Margaret Jackson and Don McKay. With enlarged membership and office facilities, the chamber reports itself ready for another big year guiding the interests of Edmonton business and businessmen.

Convict Husband In Bomb Slaying

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A jury Sunday convicted James W. Bowden, 46, of murder in the "Pendera Box" bomb slaying of his wife.

Judge Walter L. Toole will pronounce sentence Friday. The jurors recommended life imprisonment.

Bowden's wife, Fern Davis Bowden, 46, was blown to bits in the basement of their home July 27 and another big year guiding the interests of Edmonton business and businessmen.

The defence argued that Bowden intended ending the trunk to a man who had forced his attention upon Bowden's wife while the defendant was away during the war.

Bevin Is Hopeful Full Co-operation

LONDON, (AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin, Britain's treaty negotiator and part-time United Nations speaker, is optimistic over chances for "friendship and co-operation between great powers," which he terms "the surest basis on which to build peace."

"I believe we have entered the first stage of establishing confidence and harmony between great powers," he told the people in a radio speech Sunday night, adding later: "Friendship and co-operation between great powers is the surest basis on which to build peace for all time." But he warned that peace-making would take several years.

The 63-year-old Labor government diplomat reported on the Big Four foreign ministers' treaty-making and the United Nations general assembly session in New York, from which he returned last Thursday, and laid down his plan for the foreign ministers' next meeting in Moscow March 10.

Bevin declared that "the war left two great powers, preponderant—the United States of America and Soviet Russia," with Great Britain lying "midway in geography and way of life."

He said the willingness to play her part to the full in peace machinery and expressed belief that Russia fully realized in New York "that there was a great desire for Russia to have a right to their own way of life."

Bevin asserted critics within his own party who, during his absence, painted the government to a foreign policy conference vote, which it won.

To the criticism that Britain's policy was too close to that of United States and that British relations with Russia were not close enough, he said Britain had "a mind and purpose" of her own, did not "let herself be led by the hand through the U.N. charter, and held out the hand of friendship and co-operation to all."

Ship's Cook Hopes To Beat Death Jinx

LIVERPOOL, CP)—The liner Bantria sailed Sunday for the Mediterranean with a new cook who was undismayed by the fact that his two predecessors had disappeared overboard on similar trips.

"I'm not worrying," said Paul Mather. "I don't believe such things. But if I don't come back you'll know there's something in it."

Mather, 26, and the father of two children, said he did not know about the other cooks until fresh water.

Yellowknife Hydro Project

Soon to Start Work on Dam

Work on the big hydro dam at Snare River near Yellowknife, will commence on April 1 next, it was learned here Monday from federal government sources.

POWER, FROM THE FIRST 8000-horsepower unit of the project, will be developed in 1958. The dam will be 2500 ft long, 100 ft high, and will generate 150,000 kilowatts of power. The dam will be 2500 ft long, 100 ft high, and will generate 150,000 kilowatts of power.

THE HYDRO PROJECT, LARGEST IN CANADA in such northern latitudes, will solve an acute power shortage for mining ventures at Yellowknife.

Several routine matters are on the agenda for consideration.

Former City Boy of Three To Be Singer

Three-year-old Tony Camillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Camillo, now of Vancouver, B.C., is heading for a musical career, according to his mother, Mrs. Camillo.

For some time now provincial government workers have been digging and hauling gravel from the banks of the Saskatchewan river in the area of the city.

THURSDAY a contract was let to a Calgary firm for taking gravel from the Bow River. This contract calls for 45,000 cubic yards of gravel with a total value of $30,000.

He has offered to sing La Donna e Mobile the difficult aria from Verdi's "Rigoletto" in order to get it.

For Tony, an infant prodigy in a family of talented Italian musicians, at the ripe age of three, is a polished artist with a repertoire of 25 pieces, ranging from grand opera to "All the Way My Love" a sailor.

His parents have offers from Eastern Canadian radio stations, but are planning a trip to Hollywood early next year.

Forecast Clear Yule Weather

Edmontonians experienced some colder weather over the weekend, but the outlook for Christmas Day is bright, sunny weather, with little change in temperature.

The low yesterday was 21 above at 12:30 p.m., and the low was one below at 11:30 p.m., according to the weather bureau Monday.

The low tonight is expected to be 15 above and the high tomorrow 28 above. Skies will be cloudy this evening, but otherwise clear today and Tuesday, with winds at 10 miles per hour becoming light tonight.

Also to come before the council is a petition from 28 citizens of North Edmonton recommending that a liquor license be granted to the Anthony Armstrong for the public service of the community.

THE OFF-DISCUSSION question of taxi cab licenses will come before council again Monday night when a request from the Yellow Cab Co. for three additional licenses to bring its fleet to 24 cabs.

It is pointed out in the request that as the company was operating 19 cabs under city license and two under provincial license, the additional three grants would result in effect means only a increase of one license for the company.

Many at Annual Affairs

Kinsmen Hold Yule Party

About 150 children and 125 adults gathered Saturday afternoon for the Yule party of the Kinsmen club held in the Macondo hall.

The party is an annual institution of the club for members and their children. Several young friends of Kinsmen's children were also present and shared in the distribution of gifts handed out by the club.

Ice cream, cake and pop were served as refreshments for the youngsters at the tea held later in the afternoon by the adults.

Kinsmen Eric Budd was in charge of the party. Alan Dobbie gave piano selections and accompanied community singing which was conducted by Dalton Elton.

In Federation Resolution

Ask Bigger Grants For City Leagues

Substantial increases in the grants allowed Edmonton community leagues by the city, totalling in the neighborhood of $1,000, have been asked by the Edmonton Federation of Community Leagues in a resolution being currently brought to the attention of the mayor and councilors. Present grants are $100 per league for utilities.

MAIN INCREASE asks for a $200 increase in the grant for utilities, or otherwise as they deem necessary.

Next in amount is a request for a grant of $150 to be given annually to each league for improvements to the league building.

THE REQUESTS have been made because of the feeling that the municipal and provincial grants allocated by the city council of the community leagues are not a true measure of the services rendered, or any encouragement to the voluntary workers in these organizations.

IT IS FELT by the federation that the community leagues are operating risks which are insufficiently lighted, cared for and maintained.

THE REQUESTS, totalling approximately $800, are registered with the Edmonton Federation of Community Leagues.

Work of "Trousers Thief"

Seven Persons Victims Of Room-Prowlers

Seven persons were the victims of exceptionally active room-prowlers over the weekend. In all but one case, it appears very much like the work of the "trouser thief" police report.

BILL JURA, 1012 107 street, reported to police that sometime Saturday night, between 11:15 and 11:30 p.m., he was taken from his wallet while he slept. The wallet was later found in the building.

Police received phone calls from J. Ross, 1012 107 street, and H. Cornish, 1012 107 street, each reporting to 26 days imprisonment at the police on their premises.

ROSS STATED that two men in his home last night, one of whom he knew, took $200 from their room, one losing $3, the other $14. Cornish said he heard a prowler in his premises on Saturday.

On investigating it was found that Gus Wenzel had been robbed of $250 and Robert Levinson, 1012 107 street, of $450 in cash was missing.

The clerk at the YMCA, H. A. Docherty, reported that a roomer, James Brackendick of Calgary, had his suitcase stolen on Saturday. Brackendick said he had left the suitcase in his room at 10:30 p.m. and it was missing when he returned.

Church Planning Eucharist Service

The parish of St. John the Evangelist will open the first portion of its new church on Christmas Eve with a midnight eucharist service. The occasion is most fitting; the anniversary of the day when men first gathered to worship the Christ Child of Bethlehem.

hem, and two days before the Festival of St. John the Evangelist.

THE NEW construction, situated on the present church site at the corner of University Avenue and 109 street, represents about one-third of the proposed new building, which will in time replace the former church.

This parish has had a long career. The two buildings still in use are the former and original Holy Trinity Church, and St. Stephen's Church, Cochrane. These were moved to the present location about a year ago. Services were held at frequent intervals, but it was not until February of this year that a rector was appointed. Fr. Tomlinson, rector's words, has been given much credit for keeping the church and its members together.

The present rector, the Rev. W. E. Harrison, came to St. John's last June after his discharge from the army. Previously he had served overseas for almost five years as an artillery officer, and later as chaplain of the 10th Canadian Armoured Regiment, Fort Garry House. During the fighting in Normandy he was mentioned in dispatches, and later was awarded the MBE.

Mr. Harrison was ordained in Norwich, England, by Bishop Hobbs, formerly Bishop of Athabasca.

PERENNIAL SANTA CLAUS: Jack Jones, popular city singer, comedian and community song leader has been deputizing for Santa Claus for many years. Above he is shown in a typical scene at one of the functions in which he has assisted in bringing joy and happiness to thousands of boys and girls over more than a quarter of a century.

Edmonton Man Makes Rounds Each Year

You Bet There's a Santa Claus And Here He Is to Prove It

By JACK DELONG

No matter whether you're eight or 80, don't believe the next wise guy who tells you there is no Santa Claus.

I know there is a Santa Claus because I have just finished an interview with him.

IN EVERYDAY life and for business reasons he goes by the name of Jack Jones. Nearly everybody in this town knows Jack Jones.

A First Great War veteran, prominent in Canadian Legion activities, master of ceremonies at a thousand and one social events and leader of community sing-songs, carolers, Jack Jones has been a familiar figure in and around Edmonton since the peaceful year of 1910.

But it's about Jack Jones, Santa Claus, that we would inform you at this time.

FOR JACK JONES has been Santa Claus to Edmonton kiddies for 38 Christmases. And we mean a real, live Santa with that lambswool coat, long flowing white whiskers and ever-present bulging bag of toys.

What's more Jones loves the job. He told me today that he has been Santa Claus so often for so long that he thinks of himself as Santa Claus.

Jack didn't have on his majestic regalia when the interview took place. Even Santa has to work for a living in these days of high taxes and shortages. Santa Jones works in the auto licensing department of the provincial government.

"I'M JUST Santa Claus on my own time," he observed. "But don't run away with the notion that being Santa Claus is an easy job. It calls for skill, and peer knowledge of psychology."

Department stores, churches and community leaders demanded his services when they learned how big he went over.

Youngsters are really smart and Santa Claus has to fight up on his toes to avoid embarrassment, he says.

It was away back in 1910 that Jones climbed into a Santa Claus suit for the first time. He started out as Santa for the children of Canadian Legion members and has kept it up every year since.

EVERY CHRISTMAS period now he distributes about 1,500 gifts to children.

Santa is starting to feel his age a trifle, however.

"I started out as Santa to my little girl. Now I'm Santa to my grandchildren," he reminisced.

Santa Jones says there's one big compensation the advancing years have brought.

"I no longer need to stuff a pillow inside my fur coat," laughed Santa, patting that portion of his anatomy that really "shook like

$500 Is Offered For Radio Script

The Young Men's Christian Association today offered $500 for the radio script which most effectively stimulates in individuals a desire to live their everyday lives in a way that will help promote international understanding.

THE RADIO script award is the second year of its kind, announced by the YMCA. Entries may be made by anyone living in Canada and the United States. All entries must be postmarked before midnight Jan. 21, 1949, the closing date of the contest. No employee of the YMCA or their families may enter the contest. Scripts may be 15 to 20 minutes in length and must be in dramatized form. Script takes will be automatically eliminated. Dramatized documents as well as round table discussions are acceptable.

Purpose of the contest, YMCA officials explained, is to help the people of North America realize their responsibility of leadership in the promotion of international cooperation. Judges are Samuel Moore, president, Radio Writers' Guild; Frank Papp, of NBC; Robert Sander, of AUC; Harper Sibley, Chairman of the International Committee of the YMCA; and Miss Helene. The winning script will be broadcast on a national network. Winner of the contest will be announced about March 1, 1949.

ALL SCRIPTS should be mailed to the National Council of YMCA, 547 Madison Ave., New York City.

30,000 Accused In Dutch Camps

THE HAGUE, (CP)—The remnants from Holland's "little army"—30,000 strong—are still awaiting trial in Dutch concentration camps, waiting for public trial and detailed sentences in the 90,000 accused collaborators.

At the end of the war, sites used by the Germans as concentration camps for Dutch soldiers and officers were taken over by the Dutch under the name of "detention camps" for suspected collaborators.

Among them were men who had served in the German army, the use of which was against the Dutch. The Dutch and Nazi police officers who had aided the Germans into their homes, girls who had been seen publicly with Germans, and numbers who were "denounced" by their relatives, sometimes out of mere pique.

Release 60,000

Housing 60,000 alleged collaborators in the 100 camps without trial proved difficult. The military, or justice desired dozens which had been prepared on emergency internment, and released 60,000 inmates shown to have been innocent.

Some whose dossiers were incomplete were free to protest in court. They were given three days to give rights for 10 years, to work where directed by the public prosecutor or his representative, and to return regularly to authorities.

Of the 30,000 convicted, only 4,001 have been tried. Of 50 death sentences pronounced, only two have been carried out. The rest have been commuted to the maximum sentence which can be imposed in Holland—12 years.

Will Take Year

Ministry of Justice officials say it will take more than a year to try the two have been carried out. The rest have been commuted to the maximum sentence which can be imposed in Holland—12 years.

Moncton Drought Relieved by Rain

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—The rest of Canada may be hoping for a white Christmas—but in Moncton, rain and more rain is what the people want.

They got just that during the weekend, and Monctonians had rain and other containers outside to catch their private share of almost two inches of rainfall.

Stringent conservation measures will prevail in the city, suffering from one of the most serious water and power shortages in its history. Officials said the heavy rain had not abolished the shortage but had lessened it.

Citizens are getting along with fewer baths. Hotel guests are continuously reminded to use less water and restaurants serve it only on request.

To take a bath requires planning. The hour must not conflict with periods when the pumping system is shut down. Then infinite patience is required for the thin trickle of water to fill the tub.

While hope for normal water supply in Moncton lies in waiting for the spring thaw, the rest of the maritimes is perking up under an unusually heavy December rainfall. In Nova Scotia provincial power officials say the situation has returned to normal after the prolonged autumn dry spell.

Taxi Dispatcher Robbed, Slugged

VANCOUVER, (CP)—A masked hand took $10 from Edward Bosky in a taxi office early Sunday morning. Bosky was hit with the gun, inflicted head wounds which sent the dispatcher to hospital for treatment.

The holdup was accompanied by an outbreak of assaults, robberies and burglaries in which cash, jewelry and other articles to a total of about $1,000 were taken.

Scotty told police the holdup man, wearing a cap and hat pulled down over his eyes and a mask, brandished a revolver and said: "All right, give me the money."

Bosky took the money from the dispatcher's pocket, then slugged him with the butt of the gun and fled.

Calgary Protests Removal of Army

CALGARY, (CP)—A letter protesting the proposed removal of military district 13 headquarters from Calgary to Edmonton in the new year, was forwarded Saturday to Hon. Brooke Claxton, minister of national defence, Ottawa, by the Calgary Board of Trade.

This follows a protest forwarded earlier in the week to Gen. Sir Maxey J. C. Watson. It is learned that other local organizations are preparing to follow suit.

Leaders of Gang Wars in London Call Truce Eve of Big Battle

By Frank Swanson

LONDON, (AP)—At war again—this time with knives—London's underworld leaders have called a truce on the eve of a big battle.

In the mile square area called Soho where polders on the fashionable west end, elements of several gangs have for the last few days been conducting sporadic fights.

Now, warned by Scotland Yard that gangster tactics won't be tolerated here, leaders have called an armed truce to their vendetta.

The "bloody mob warfare" this country had ever known.

Though not much is known about the underworld activities of the gangs—some of which are believed to include Canadian deserters—their freedom is thought to be a threat to the disposal of thousands of dollars worth of jewels and furs stolen in and around London during the past few months, as well for other reasons.

Ashes His Majesty End Ottawa Regime

VANCOUVER, (CP)—W. R. Smith, Democratic party organizer and unsuccessful contestant in federal, provincial and civic elections, Friday called His Majesty the King urging that His Majesty dissolve the government of Canada.

The cable said: "The government of Canada is no longer functioning in a democratic manner. It has created monopolies by order-in-council through a system of patronage which violates the British North America Act."

Cable tolls were $6.74.

Canada Supplies Bulk U.K. Wheat

LONDON, (CP)—Latest word of trade figures showed that although Canadian wheat shipments to the United Kingdom have been delayed recently by transport difficulties, the dominion supplied five-sixths of British purchases in the first 11 months of 1946.

Canada provided nearly 150,000,000 ($200,000,000) of Britain's total wheat purchases of $2,500,000,000.

Canadian shipments in the first 11 months of this year totalled 23,500,000 hundredweight compared with 26,500,000 in the first 11 months of 1945 and 48,500,000 in the same period of 1943.

Although shipments were down last months this year, immense exports to Britain were arranged at the time of greatest need in the spring and early summer when Canada scraped the bottom of the barrel to send all possible wheat supplies across the Atlantic.

The value of United States shipments in the 11-month period was $2,750,000,000. In wheat products, meal and flour, Canada supplied $1,150,000,000 of the total value of $13,250,000,000 imported by Britain.

Recent exports from Canada at more than 2,500,000 hundredweight were valued at $2,000,000.

U. S. citrus crop sets new record.

MCALLAN, Tex. (AP)—The United States citrus industry—its supplies 40 percent of American food—has set a record crop, its worst depression in five years.

Long ago orange and fruit growers were getting six and seven cents a pound. Today they are getting half a cent a pound. Canning plants are either closing or curtailing their output.

New Appointees Meet President Truman at White House

Four new heads of government agencies pause at the White House door after calling on President Truman. Left to right, they are: Frank P. Creden, housing expediter; John R. Steel, man, assistant to president in the co-ordination of federal agencies; Maj.-Gen. Philip B. Fleming, head of a new "office of temporary controls"; and Raymond M. Foley, housing administrator.

2 Prison Inmates To Die for Riots

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Two Alcatraz prison inmates Saturday were convicted of first degree murder, carrying the death penalty for their part in the bloody island prison uprising of last May. Those to die are Miran E. Thompson, 29, Texas kidnapper and slayer, and Sam Shooley, 36, kidnapper and bank robber from Oklahoma.

A third convict, Clarence Carnes, 19, Oklahoma kidnapper-slayer, now serving 30 years, will receive another life sentence on the jury's recommendation.

Three convicts and two guards were killed during the riot.

The island government, in India, is considering a proposal to grow Egyptian cotton.

Mosley Tells Rally 'Fascism Stirring'

LONDON, (AP)—Mr. Oswald Mosley, post-war leader of the British Union of Fascists, told a rally Sunday night that Fascism "is stirring again in England and in the world."

More than 100 of his supporters, including persons detained during the war for Fascist beliefs and a sprinkling of uniformed soldiers, applauded Mosley at a "welcome home" Christmas party in a dark and stuffy room.

It was Mr. Mosley's first trip into London's big working class district, since his release from wartime internment.

Two days ago a government official assured a parliamentary questioner that British Fascists were not organized, although he acknowledged that a few might have guns and might use them in "certain circumstances."

So There Is at Least One in Canada

One Canadian Woman Believes Man Master in Own Home, but Housework Out

There's at least one woman in Canada, who firmly believes in a man should be master in his own home.

This woman—charming Mrs. G. L. Strangé of Winnipeg—thrusts up her hands in horror at the idea of husband's being master in the house with the housework—except, of course, in the case of illness.

And one look at Mrs. Strangé will convince you that she hasn't feared so badly in all her 25 years of marriage. They're a happy, fun-loving couple.

Mrs. Strangé is a writer—the author of "With The West In Her Eyes"—and co-author with her husband of the book "Never A Dull Moment."

SHE SAYS she's been looking at the "man master in his own home" angle for a great many years—and that she's given the whole thing a lot of thought.

And she says she's come to the conclusion that a man's place just isn't in the kitchen—or all dolled up in an apron and a broom, sweeping the dining room.

Mrs. Strangé says that when a man works all day to earn a living for his family he shouldn't be expected to come home and help his wife clear up a sink full of dirty dishes.

She says his place is an easy chair with his papers, his pipe and a hot drink waiting for him.

Mrs. Strangé is a mother, stenographer and a grandmother—and what she says about the role of a wife and a husband should be read in a home—is not said lightly.

OF COURSE she comes by this attitude naturally; she's been born in England—and in the old country a "man's home is his castle" and the man is the "head of the house."

This pretty white-haired grandmother, whose alert brain and intelligent laughing eyes belie the "motherly" title, allows the very idea of women making their husbands do housework.

She says "housework is the every day work of the wife. It should not be left until the husband comes home from his work at night."

She feels that a wife should know how to run a home—everything from cooking to minor repairs. Then she argues the husband have to ask "hubby" to chip in and help when he comes home tired from work.

OF COURSE, she admits there are some things about the house that are definitely in the man's domain—like the law—repairing the garden gate and other homey tasks.

But as for washing dishes, or drying a room—Mrs. Strangé feels a woman should be too proud of knowing how to run her own home to ask her husband to take up dirty cloth or a dust mop.

She says she's seen a typical English custom for women to do the housework.

She says she was quite shocked when she came over to this country from England and found wives literally being waited upon by their husbands.

She went to the United States first, she says, but she found that women aren't much different.

Mrs. Strangé does make some exceptions, of course—cases of illness where the husband is unable to tend to her home properly. Then, she says a husband should be allowed to show his wife that he can also manage a home as well as his job.

AND ANOTHER, she says, where the husband and wife should share in the tidiness of housework, where both have to work to keep the home out of the red.

Mrs. Strangé says it's only fair when the wife has to go out and work to help support her husband's small earnings, that the man should do his share of the housework.

But where the woman is working only because she wants to and her husband is making enough money to support the family well, as Mrs. Strangé is, it's hardly down for allowing "friend husband" to mop the floor.

Many Canadian women will probably not agree with Mrs. Strangé and her husband's opinion, but they will have the thing all worked out and each does a little bit toward making their home life a happy one—neither one expects the other to do a helping hand, except on special occasions.

There's no doubt that Mrs. Strangé has a hot dinner waiting for her husband when he comes home at night—and you can be sure that his slippers and his pipe are by his chair and that the evening paper is right in the hand at hand.

And it is certain he is the one who gets up early in the morning to attend to the furnace and let the cat in.

Christmas Party At Rideau Hall

OTTAWA, Dec. 22 (C.P.)—Christmas will be observed quietly at Rideau Hall this year, but there will be a Christmas party for the three children of the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander.

As snow really began falling in earnest over Ottawa Saturday afternoon, the children of the Governor-General, it looked as if the Christmas party at Rideau Hall would be a disappointment.

But the children of the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander, who are now in the city, will have a Christmas party at the home of the Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander.

Believe Gem Loot Found in Shack

LONDON, (AP) - The Daily Mail said Monday some of the diamonds of Windsor's stolen jewels may be among gems "worth a fortune" which will be laid out for identification Thursday at police headquarters in Aldershot.

The paper said the jewels believed to represent parts of loot in inventory against London luxury firms and country manors in the last few months, were found in a lonely shack in the middle of Hampshire field.

The Scotland Yard detectives who investigated the $800,000 theft of Windsor's jewels, alleged by Lord and Lady Mountbatten, were called in on the case.

The Mail said Canadian military police are co-operating with Scotland Yard in a search for the whereabouts of the loot, on the assumption that a cache of stolen goods may have been "holed up" in a ring of hills around the outskirts of London.

Tuesday reports it now is sufficient in scope.

Bonnyville School Presents Concert

BONNYVILLE - With an excellent holiday night, pervading an elaborate Christmas concert given by more than 100 students from under the auspices of the Bonnyville school in the Century theatre.

An audience of about 200 warmly applauded the excellent performance, which consisted of musical, dramatic, and other features, and numerous individual musical and recitative numbers.

The high quality of the concert generally shown by the large cast of students, and the excellent program directing staff, headed by Principal Sister St. John and Stanley A. Marshall, vice-principal, assisted by the school's teachers.

Outstanding among the program numbers, was the skit "The Ballet", which featured brilliant dance routines by 10 attractive young girls in an ingenious setting of colorful, changing stage lights. Also remarkable was the closing number of the evening, a splendid pas de deux, interpretively and artistically interpreted amidst appropriate choral singing.

Interviews brought messages of season's greetings delivered on behalf of the school by Donald Beaupre and Letitia Miquel. The program was announced by Jacqueline Vail, president of the high school council.

Missing Trapper Is at Vancouver

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE - For the first time, a missing trapper for a missing party has not ended in tragedy.

Norman Olson, trapper 20 miles north of Calgary, had been missing for over six weeks and the cause of an extensive search. But this week a letter came from him from Vancouver, saying he had walked from his home to the city on the railway, where he took the train for Vancouver. He hadn't notified anyone.

His partner, Gordon Gilles went up to the cabin a month ago and when he found it empty and Olson had not come back, he thought he was looking for him. Unable to find any trace of Olson, Gilles came back to Norway and notified the police.

Since then police, trappers and hunters have searched the country, covered the cabin and trapline, and had given up all hope of finding the "missing" man before spring.

Tips for Last-Minute Shopper: Buy Him an Alligator or Baboon

CHICAGO, (AP) - Did you put off your Christmas shopping until the last minute? Would you like an unusual gift - something new - one like a baboon or an alligator? Robert Bean may be the man for you.

Bean is director of the Brookfield Zoo. He has some merchandise for sale, and if you want to buy it, you can. He has a baboon, that's right, and a small alligator, that's right.

Bean has, for instance, alligators at reasonable prices - at a foot if the year is less than ten feet long, at a foot if more than ten feet. Ideal for keeping strange animals, and for the swimming pool.

He has a baboon, between five and eight years old, weighing 150 pounds.

Clark Will Work On Austria Treaty

WASHINGTON, (AP) - State Secretary Bernan named 14 Gen. Clark, State Saturday as his deputy in his previous work on a peace treaty for Austria.

Gen. Clark, United States commanding general in Austria, will join delegates of foreign ministers from France, Britain and Russia in London Jan. 14 to begin the task.

Ambassador Robert Murphy, formerly in France, Britain and Russia, was named to Germany, was named Friday as deputy on the German peace treaty.

Quadruplets Born To Couple in U.S.

BALTIMORE, (AP) - Charles Mein, Jr., was casting about Monday for a name for a "bunch" of four children, a family suddenly increased by the birth of quadruplets - three boys and a girl - to the British girl he married during the war.

The babies were placed immediately after birth in individual oxygenated incubators as "precaution" against the danger of infection. The mother, Mrs. Mein, was very, very good.

The 28-year-old mother also is in good condition.

The couple, who have another son, January, about 15 months, married in England after Mein, a sergeant, met Mein, the former Dorothy Mein, who was serving in the auxiliary transport corps.

The quadruplets were not weighed, but Dr. Willis, who delivered them, estimated they were approximately half normal size, or about four pounds apiece.

Dr. George Cramer, director of the Baltimore Hospital, said the quadruplets were born on an average of once in 100,000 births. The Mein quads were believed to be the 11th living group born in the United States.

SCIENTISTS ARE NOT ALWAYS RIGHT

We usually say that a thing is wrong because it is not scientific, yet the truth is that scientists as is pointed out in Dr. Howard M. Parshley's book, "The Story of Human Error." He lists these scientific assumptions that have turned out to be wrong: that inbreeding causes degeneration, that ants and bees are intelligent; that toads ca-sense the presence of water a long distance and thus locate it to lay their eggs in the breeding season. The learned professor says a lot of these ideas are false, and typical of the mistakes made by zoologists. So maybe it is not too bad if the rest of us make mistakes sometimes when even the scientists do.

Alexander Hamilton founded the U. S. Coast Guard in 1790 to operate against smugglers.
